

Checklist

Before you start looking for an international payroll provider, ask yourself the following questions:

- How many employees or contractors will you be paying, and how often?
- Which international payroll features are most valuable to your business?
- What degree of compliance support do you need from your international payroll service?
- Do you require other integrated human resources features, such as employee management?
- How do you plan to manage currency exchange risk?